

COUNCIL POLICY

SUBJECT: HORTON PLAZA - USE OF
POLICY NO.: 700-05
EFFECTIVE DATE: August 24, 1981

BACKGROUND:

In 1871, Alonzo Horton dedicated a one-half block area in the center of San Diego to remain as open space and in 1895 this area was purchased by the City and was then named Horton Plaza.

Since then Horton Plaza has served as the City’s official “town square.” Because of its small size and congestion, the following shall govern its use.

POLICY:

It is the policy of the City Council that all requests for permits for the following uses of Horton Plaza shall not be permitted without the written approval of the City Manager:

1. Ticket sales, fund solicitation, or construction of any booths or placement of any equipment on Horton Plaza for any of said purposes;
2. Voice or music amplification;
3. Billboards or advertising.
